

Coaching Spectrum

Coaches provide support, structure, and accountability to help others perform and learn. This happens all along the spectrum at different times, but the more coaches facilitate folks coming to their own conclusions – as opposed to giving advice or direction – the more they will gain independence and develop as leaders.

More Directive
Less Learning
More Control

Less Directive
More Learning
Less Control